There will be a special program of talks, refreshments and a pleasant evening for all. The purpose is that all may become the better acquainted with each other and with the work nothing to sell.

A Close Forecaster.

Mr. Walker Bryant, our county court clerk, who is a close observer in political contests in this county did not miss the mark very much in the contest between Mr. Helm and Mr. Sn!livan. He estimated that 923 votes would be cast in the primary and that Mr. Helm's majority would be between 500 and 600 which he wired to Mr. Helm. There were 941 votes cast Mr. Helm's majority is 573. So you see Mr. Bryant missed the mark but a few votes.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to return my heartfelt thanks to the many who so kindly and so willingly administered to my mother during her illness ending in death. In time of affliction and trouble friendship was wonderfully manifested, and so long as I live I will ever keep in memory those who so tenderly waited upon my mother during the dark and sad hours of my life. Gr atefully, Liza Shearer.

Mr. W. F. Sanders, of Joppa, was in town Monday and informed the News man that his wife is now rapidly recovering from a severe spell of typhoid fever. #### THE KOLA NUT IN AFRICA.

It Plays an Important Part In the Lives of the Natives. In the parts of Africa where it grows the kola nut is much esteemed by the natives on account of its stimulating and other properties, and it occupies a large place in African le gends, as well as in ceremonies and cults. These tribes have been aware of its power as a stimulant from time Immemorial, and it is also used as a remedy for marsh fever and other maladies. It is used as a pledge of friendship or affection, as an offering to fetich men and also as money or for paying tribute. In the Bambara and other regions a young man sends a basket of white and red kola nuts to the father of a young woman whom he desires to marry. If the father consents he keeps all the nuts, but if not he keeps the white ones and returns the

The kola tree is much respected, and the belief is strong among the natives that if one of them plucks a flower it will bring him bad luck. Among the Bagas a tree is planted at each birth or notable occasion. In the Diorugu region when a chief goes through the ceremony of naming his child he plants a kola tree, and this afterward belongs to the child.

In the whole of the Sudan region the kola nut is a symbol of friendship, and as it is an article of luxury the act of offering it as a gift is taken as a mark of the wealth of the giver. Eating the kola nut together is a sign of friendship, and it would be a great offense to refuse to do this. Treaties, vows or compacts are made binding in

KEATS' LOVE AFFAIR.

It Was But Another Disaster of the Last Days of the Poet's Life.

Keats' way of love was by no means a way of happiness. The object of his passion was a Miss Fanny Brawne, whom he had the fortune or misfortune to meet at the Dilkes' house. She has become fairly well known in Keats' bibliography as "a brisk and blooming very young beauty of the far from uncommon English hawk blond type."

Her affection for Keats seems to have been real, but limited by a rather shallow emotional capacity. His for her was enfevered with doubts and questionings not only about the reality of his feeling toward her, but about his failing health and his uncertain prospects. Disease had already weakened him when he met her, and between the fire of disease and the fire of love his vitality was rapidly consumed. Love proved to be but another disaster to heighten the tragic suffering of the last eighteen months of his life.

When, finally, he went to Rome, accompanied by the artist, Joseph Severn, he turned his back on love along with the rest of life. He died in February, 1821, and was buried in the Protestant cemetery, a place made so beautiful by the flowers that grow there the year through that it makes one "in love with death to think one should be buried in so sweet a place,' as Shelley wrote not long before he, too, died .- New York Post.

Musical Conductors. It is a significant fact that most of the great conductors have spent their apprentice years in mastering some solo instrument which they have used as a stepping stone to the broader and ultimate work of conducting an orchestra. Arthur Nikisch was at the beginning of his career a violinist in the royal orchestra at Vienna; Richard Strauss made his formal debut not only as leader of the Meininger orchestra, but as a pianist also, playing a concerto by Mozart. Felix Weingartner, Dr. Muck, Emil Paur, Rothwell and Oberhoffer were first planists of distinction before becoming conductors. This list could also be carried back to Hans von Bulow, the prince of pianists and concommercial traveler recently, "and ductors, and to Felix Mendelssohn, who inaugurated the famous Gewandhaus

"Watches" on Board Ship.

On board all ships a series of "watches" are established, so that work is shared equally among the sailors. To aid this object also the crews are divided into two divisions, starboard and port. A ship's day commences at noon, and there are seven watches. The watch which is on duty in the forenoon one day has the afternoon next day, and the men who have four hours' rest one night have eight hours the next. This is the reason for having "dog watches," which are made by dividing the hours between 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. into two watches.

Living on Rubber.

The rubber slug is one of the many pests of rubber plantations. It attacks the young trees and feeds on the juice oozing from the cuts. Doubt having been cast on the suggestion that any animal could subsist on rubber, a saucerful of juice was placed before some rubber slugs, which lapped it up like a cat lapping up milk. Scientists have come to the conclusion that this slug contains some rubber digesting terment as a gastric juice.

COLORS OF BUOYS

Spell the Same Words of Warning In All Our Waters.

DAY GUIDES FOR MARINERS.

The Simple Code That Governs These Valuable Aids to Navigation-How the Whistling Buoy and Bell Buoy Fog Signals Are Operated.

As everybody knows, there are black buoys and red buoys, buoys with horizontal black and red stripes, buoys with black and white vertical stripes, not to speak of bell buoys and the much larger buoys that lie well out at sea and are called "mammoth buoys." Each of these aids to navigation has, of course, its own particular meaning. The place that each occupies is carefully chosen for it, and its arrangement is governed by a careful system. Buoys are called "day marks," in contradistinction to the "night marks" -the lights and beacons.

For the purposes of the lighthouse board the coasts of the United States, including the lakes and navigable rivers, are divided into various dis her astonishment. In the middle of tricts, each district being under the charge of an officer who sees that all buoys in his district are properly cared

For obvious reasons similar buoys in all districts mean the same thing. In other words, a buoy of a particular distinguishing color off the coast of Maine carries the same significance that a buoy of that same color has off the coast of Florida. So the mariner who enters the New England port is guided and directed in precisely the same way as the mariner who enters a southern port, and the same is true of all other

The government publishes coast charts showing the colors and posithousands of buoys is located and channel. They lie on either side. The red buoys, which have even numbers, must be left on the starboard or right

When there are two or more chanence either in the size or in the shape of the buoys.

An isolated rock, wreck or any obstruction that has a channel on either side of it is shown by a buoy with red and black horizontal stripes.

Buoys showing white and black perpendicular stripes and lying in midchannel indicate that they must be passed close to avoid danger.

As an indication that there is a turning point in the channel we see buoys surmounted by triangles, cages, etc.

There are buoys which are also fog signals, such as the bell buoy and the whistling buoy. The latter is used off the coast to show dangerous outlying shoals or other obstructions. It is surmounted by a locomotive whistle made to sound by the rushing through it of air admitted and compressed by the rising and falling motion of the buoy itself. It has been found that these buoys are particularly adapted to tur bulent waters, inasmuch as the more violent the sea is the louder the sound given out by the buoy. The whistling buoy, a most unpleasant neighbor, may be heard a at distance of about ten miles. Under very favorable conditions it has been heard fifteen miles

The bell buoy consists of the bottom section of a buoy floating in the water on which is mounted a framework bearing a belt which, instead of the ordinary tongue and clapper, shows a small cannon ball supported on a platorm just beneath the bell's mouth This ball rolls to and fro with every notion of the sea.

Bell buoys are employed in harbors and rivers where the water is smooth than in the roadsteads and where t is not necessary that their sound shall be heard a great distance

The ordinary buoy, not of the whis ling or the bell variety, is made either if wood or of iron. Those of iron are follow with air tight compartments and are of three shapes, called re spectively nun, can and tre buoys. the nun buoy is almost conical in shape, the can buor approaches the ylindrical form, and the ice buoy is very long and narrow, somewhat re embling the spar buoy in form.

The wooden or spar buoys are sticks

Not long ago, when two members got into a row and it seemed as if blows were about to be exchanged, the for as soon as the controlling nervous | speaker promptly ordered the sergeantat-arms to show them the mace. The ward by its own weight, only to be sergeant took the mace, marched up to in hand, majestically, before them. This, however, had not the slightest effect, and the sergeant-at-arms anxiously inquired of a member sitting next, "What am I to do with the mace now?"

To which the member responded in a stage whisper, "Peck 'em on the head with it!" min to the state of the contract of

This suggestion brought down the house, and a roar of laughter and applause followed, in which even the belligerents were obliged to join.

In general, however, before the mace can be shown, the members rush in and separate men whose tempers have got the better of them, who have exchanged the lie or the blow that always follows. Members engaging in these rows are always called before the bar of the house and sternly reprimanded by the speaker, who talks like a Dutch uncle to them and calls them by name. This "naming" is the only time a member's name is used in debate. He is at other times "the member from So-andso" or "the gentleman from So-and-so."

These collisions rarely, if ever, occur between members anywhere except on the floor of the house. Everything is permitted in the freedom of debate, nor is a member held accountable outside for anything he may say on the floor. Through this freedom of speech members say things they would not dare to utter elsewhere. In the old days duels followed the exchange of the lie. and the Graves-Cilley duel, the John Randolph and Henry Clay daes and many historical encounters took place. But in the evolution of government the principle became firmly fixed that there must be absolute freedom of debate and that no man could be held responsible outside for anything said on the floor of either house. Ar so the dueling practice was dropped congress long before public sentinis abolished it elsewhere. No libel suit holds for anything said in open debate. and in every way the freedom of speech is jealously guarded and maintained - Chicago Record-Heraid.

Dear Editor.

Inclosed find money order, $1.-00, for my subscription for the Adair County News another year, and keep the good old News coming. I enjoy reading the news from my Adair and Russell county friends. It is awfully dry fering a great deal from the hot winds, but if it will rain in the next week there will be lots of cotton made. Myself and wife have just returned from California where we spent twentyfive days. Sure had a nice trip. We like to burned up crossing the Deserts of Arizona. The wind was just as hot as fire. It was fine going right off of the desert into the pretty Orange Rates: $1.00 per day, $5.00 groves and Grape vinyards around Colton and Pomona California. Our first stop was Los Angles, a fine town with a population of three hundred and eighty thousand. Los Angles is twenty-five miles from the Pacific Ocean. When we would get tired in town we would take the street car and run down to Long Beach and take a plunge in the ocean and go back to town feeling fresh. It was a fine business, rolling in the hot sand then into the cool water.

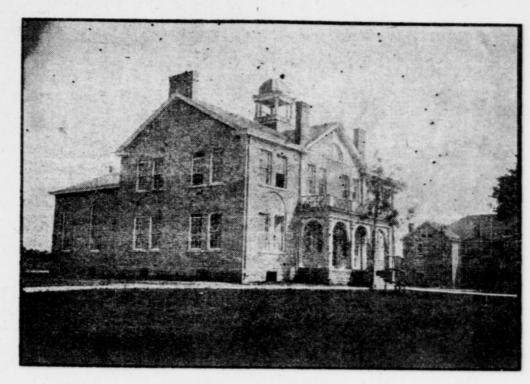

Our next stop was San Franof Craycraft, left on a visit to Cham- cisco. We didn't like San Francisco as well as Los Angles on account of it being so cool up there we liked to froze to death, from the ocean breeze not being used to it, nor much water of any kind in Texas, it went pretty hard with us. We went all over the Golden Gate park in San Francisco. It was about the swellest thing we saw on our trip. We also went through sand Chinamen in San Francisco. he has done a good business. Returning home we visited Mr. U. M. Grider and S. I. Pasadena, California. This is Blair are making preparations to Millionaires town, here we saw burn a brick kiln near this place the finest residence and yards of any place. The sunken Bush garden is also located at this town. It is eight hundred feet deep a person could spend a week arouad this garden and never get tired looking at the pretty spent several days last week at flowers. I could write a dozen columns on Californio, but guess I have made my letter to long.

The speaking was good, Brothers W. S, Knight, F. J. Barger, Charley Kennett. Claud Harmon, Loren Phelps and C. M. Dean were the speakers. But the time has come that we can't hardly have a country Sunday school, there is so many games and basket dinners, they have nearly broke up all the Sunday schools and prayer meeting. I am opposed to them. You ask a boy or girl when they come back from one of these big dinthem who spoke and what was the subject, I don't know I was not in the house. Now these folks had a good time they got what they went for. Brother preachers and church members we must stop these big dinners or stop your Sunday schools and prayer meeting, which one will

Are You Nervous?

What makes you nervous? It is the weakness of your womanly constitution, which cannot stand the strain of the hard work you do. As a result, you break down, and ruin your entire nervous system. Don't keep this up! Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardul is made from purely vegetable ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, and helps them to do their proper work. It relieves pain and restores health, in a natural manner, by going to the source of the trouble and building up the bodily strength.

Mrs. Grace Fortner, of Man, W. Va., took Cardui. This is what she says about it: "I was so weak and nervous, I could not bear to have anyone near me. I had fainting spells, and I lost flesh every day. The first dose of Cardui helped me. Now, I am entirely cured of the fainting spells, and I cannot say enough for Cardui, for I know it saved my life." It is the best tonic for women.

Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to women? Take Cardui. It will help you. Ask your druggist.

DEHLER BROS., Louisville, Ky. Albany, Mo.

Dear Sir:-It has been my intentions for some time to write a letter to you and the subscribers of the good, newsy little paper that comes to my home weekly, thinking that it might be of some interest to you to read what I have to say, and possibly, of a little benefit.

I left old Adair County about twenty-four years ago and have been in the north-west part of Missouri most of the time since then. Yet, I have an interest in my old home state, and of course, contrast your country out which a man in this age of and happenings with that near the world cannot even be ity were divided on the ques- give him a chance to see the There is the finest prospect most affairs of public interest. if we could see into the future or even know how certain things have effected other communities, hoping that the same may come to us as came to the other community. Of course, in thus hoping we must take the times and other changing things into consideration. This has been from my being interested in the letter written by Dr. U. L. Taylor in regard to compulsory school education.
